

Partnership for Safe Water

Be the first . . .

Join the Distribution System Optimization Program

Improve the quality of water delivered to your customers and ensure system reliability by using operational optimization methods instead of costly capital improvements.

The Partnership for Safe Water has proven that this approach is successful in its water treatment plant optimization program started in 1995. Since that time, more than 500 treatment plants of all sizes have used these methods to improve performance. Many treatment plants that joined in the first year are still actively participating in the program.

Now you can be a CHARTER member of the Partnership for Safe Water Distribution System Optimization program.

CHARTER Members receive special benefits:

- Receive a unique CHARTER logo to use on communications with customers and regulating agencies.
- Opportunity to fast-track completion of a self-assessment and possible achievement of the Directors Award from US EPA and AWWA.
- Help evaluate the Partnership assessment tools and provide feedback that will lead to program improvements.
- Demonstrate leadership in distribution system operation and management.
- Receive a limited issue recognition plaque signifying your status as a Charter member.

Membership opens on January 1, 2011.
